For European action by retired workers!

Across Europe, the right to retire is under attack from the capitalists.

Across Europe, retired people are organising to defend their rights and their demands.

The European organisations of the International Trade Union Network for Solidarity and Struggle, meeting in Milan from 2 to 4 February, are supporting the actions of the retired people's trade unions and unitary collectives.

As a tool at the service of those who are fighting, our Trade Union Network aims to provide as much information as possible, to circulate information from one country to another and thus to build convergences enabling coordinated action at European level, based on the realities of each country. The organisation of a European meeting in the coming months could extend this work and lead to a new stage in the action!
